Note from the CEO

Thank you for your interest in The Set Me Free Project's® READY to Stand Curriculum®. This curriculum aims to empower our youth to value themselves and others as individuals and ultimately help them stay safe. Our curriculum is informative, interactive, and flexible – reaching students from K-12th grades, college-age youth, and adults in every facet of our communities.

It is an honor to see some youth hear for the first time that they have value and worth. It is an honor to see youth engaged because they know the person having a conversation with them genuinely cares about them. It is an honor to see lives changed. It is an honor to do what we do and make a difference.

Prevention education gives communities the tools to recognize human trafficking and the grooming process of people who want to do harm, Prevention education also helps us all to lower and eliminate human trafficking in our communities. But more important than that, powerful prevention education changes lives.

So, thank you for joining us in this important work! We are READY to stand together, and with your help, we can stop human trafficking before it starts.

~ Stephanie Olson, CEO and Founder

Our History

In the summer of 2014, the founding members of The Set Me Free Project® began researching and training on human trafficking. They quickly realized that they had not fully understood the risk to their children, and most parents did not understand either. Furthermore, no school district in their community provided any awareness or prevention education on human trafficking to any youth - the targets.

For this reason, The Set Me Project®, incorporated in 2015, is now serving communities nationwide by bringing prevention education to students, parents, educators, businesses, and industries.

Our Mission

The Set Me Free Project's® mission is to stop human trafficking before it starts by providing prevention education to all ages.

About the Curriculum

The Set Me Free Project's® READY to Stand Curriculum® is designed to engage and empower participants. By offering fun and flexible programming for all groups, we believe everyone can take a stand against human trafficking.

We believe that our READY to Stand Curriculum® has a place in every school, organization, and community because prevention education benefits all communities and can have an enduring impact on the world.

We are committed to meeting youth where they are. In doing so, we bring you various tools to reach every student.

Every Lesson Includes:

Our Core Values

- Personal Value: We are committed to the belief that every person has value and deserves equitable treatment.
- Compassionate Prevention: We are committed to keeping youth safe through compassionate and empathetic prevention.
- Integrity: We are committed to personal and professional integrity, working individually and collaboratively.
- Striving for excellence: We are committed to boldly, yet humbly, striving for excellence.
- Creative Solutions: We are committed to finding creative solutions through ongoing education.
- Fun: We are committed to fun in everything we do.

Youth Curriculum

At The Set Me Free Project, we provide impactful prevention education curricula that empower both general and system-involved youth. Our comprehensive offerings include specialized curricula explicitly tailored for youth in foster care, juvenile justice, and those with lived experiences of adversity.

For system-involved youth, our curriculum dives deeper into the unique challenges and circumstances these young people face. It is meticulously designed to address their needs and vulnerabilities, providing them with tools and knowledge to recognize and respond to potential threats, including human trafficking. By focusing on scenarios and discussions relevant to their experiences, such as navigating the complexities of foster care and juvenile justice systems, our curriculum equips these youth with critical life skills that foster resilience and self-worth.

This specialized attention ensures that all youth, no matter their circumstances, receive the education and support they need to stand empowered against exploitation and to build healthier, safer lives.

Health Education Standards

The Mission of Health Education:

Health education aims to motivate young people to maintain and improve their health, prevent disease, and avoid or reduce health-related risk behaviors. The health educator's role is to provide young people with the knowledge and skills they need to be healthy for a lifetime and utilize these health-enhancing skills to achieve life's goals.

The National Health Education Standards states:

- Standard 1: Students will comprehend concepts related to health promotion and disease prevention to enhance health.
 - Standard 2: Students will analyze the influence of family, peers, culture, media, technology and other factors on health behaviors.
 - Standard 3: Students will demonstrate the ability to access valid information and products and services to enhance health.
 - Standard 4: Students will demonstrate the ability to use interpersonal communication skills to enhance and avoid or reduce health risks.
 - Standard 5: Students will demonstrate the ability to use decision-making skills to enhance health.
 - Standard 6: Students will demonstrate the ability to use goal-setting skills to enhance health.
 - Standard 7: Students will demonstrate the ability to practice health-enhancing behaviors and avoid or reduce health risks.
 - Standard 8: Students will demonstrate the ability to advocate for personal, family and community health.

Health Education is a unique and separate academic discipline. It influences individual, family, and societal development, knowledge, attitudes, and behavior and improves individual, family, and community health. Health education helps individuals seek that which moves them toward optimal stages of wellness. It also means helping individuals and families overcome the debilitating effects of economic deprivation, the lack of balance, disease, and accidents of life.
